

DRACULA'S

The masters of reinvention are at it again

Dracula's are announcing a revamp and re-theme of their iconic entry experience - the beloved Ghost Train is on track to receive a well-earned facelift.

Never ones to stay stagnant, the Newman family (who own and operate Dracula's), unleashed their brand-new show 'Sanctuary' in February 2022. Since its opening, Sanctuary has thrilled and entertained sold-out audiences, five nights a week, while garnering five-star reviews across the board.

With their latest show now up and running, the iconic Ghost Train, which has been part of the arrival experience since the 80's, is next in line to receive a refresh. Dracula's Ghost Train has been no stranger to many a scream and swear word and is a key component of their "funniest home video" styled scare-cam segment.

Luke Newman, Dracula's Operations Manager says the team are excited to bring an enhanced experience to their customers.

"Dracula's has always been about delivering an experience like no other and the Ghost Train is one of the most renowned treasures of Dracula's."

He adds, "with over 7 million people visiting Dracula's over the years, so many people already know where the scares are, so we felt it was now time to mix it up a little and give them a brand-new arrival experience."

The major renovation - which encompasses a complete re-theme, major upgrade to the infrastructure and drive systems - is already underway.

Dracula's Ghost Train will emerge with its flashy new facelift by the end of the year.
